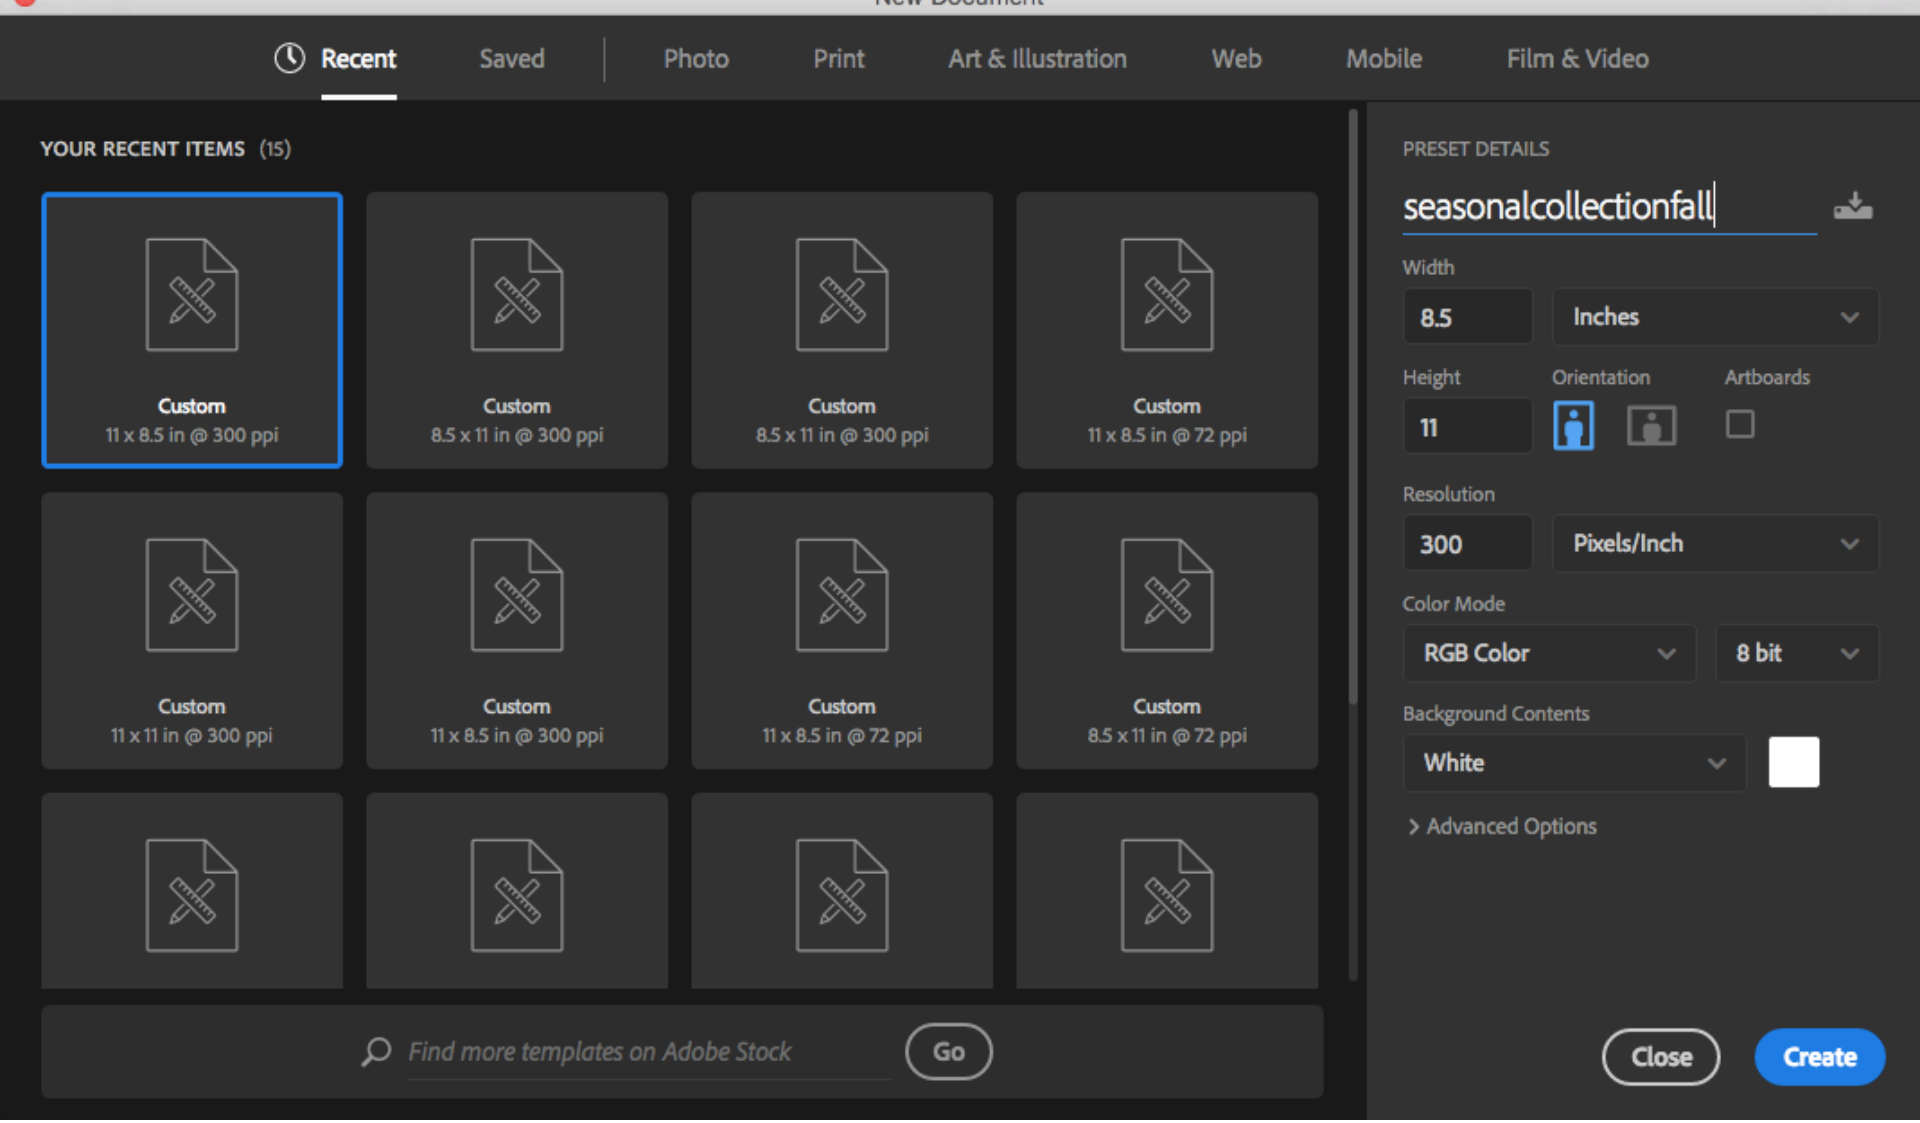
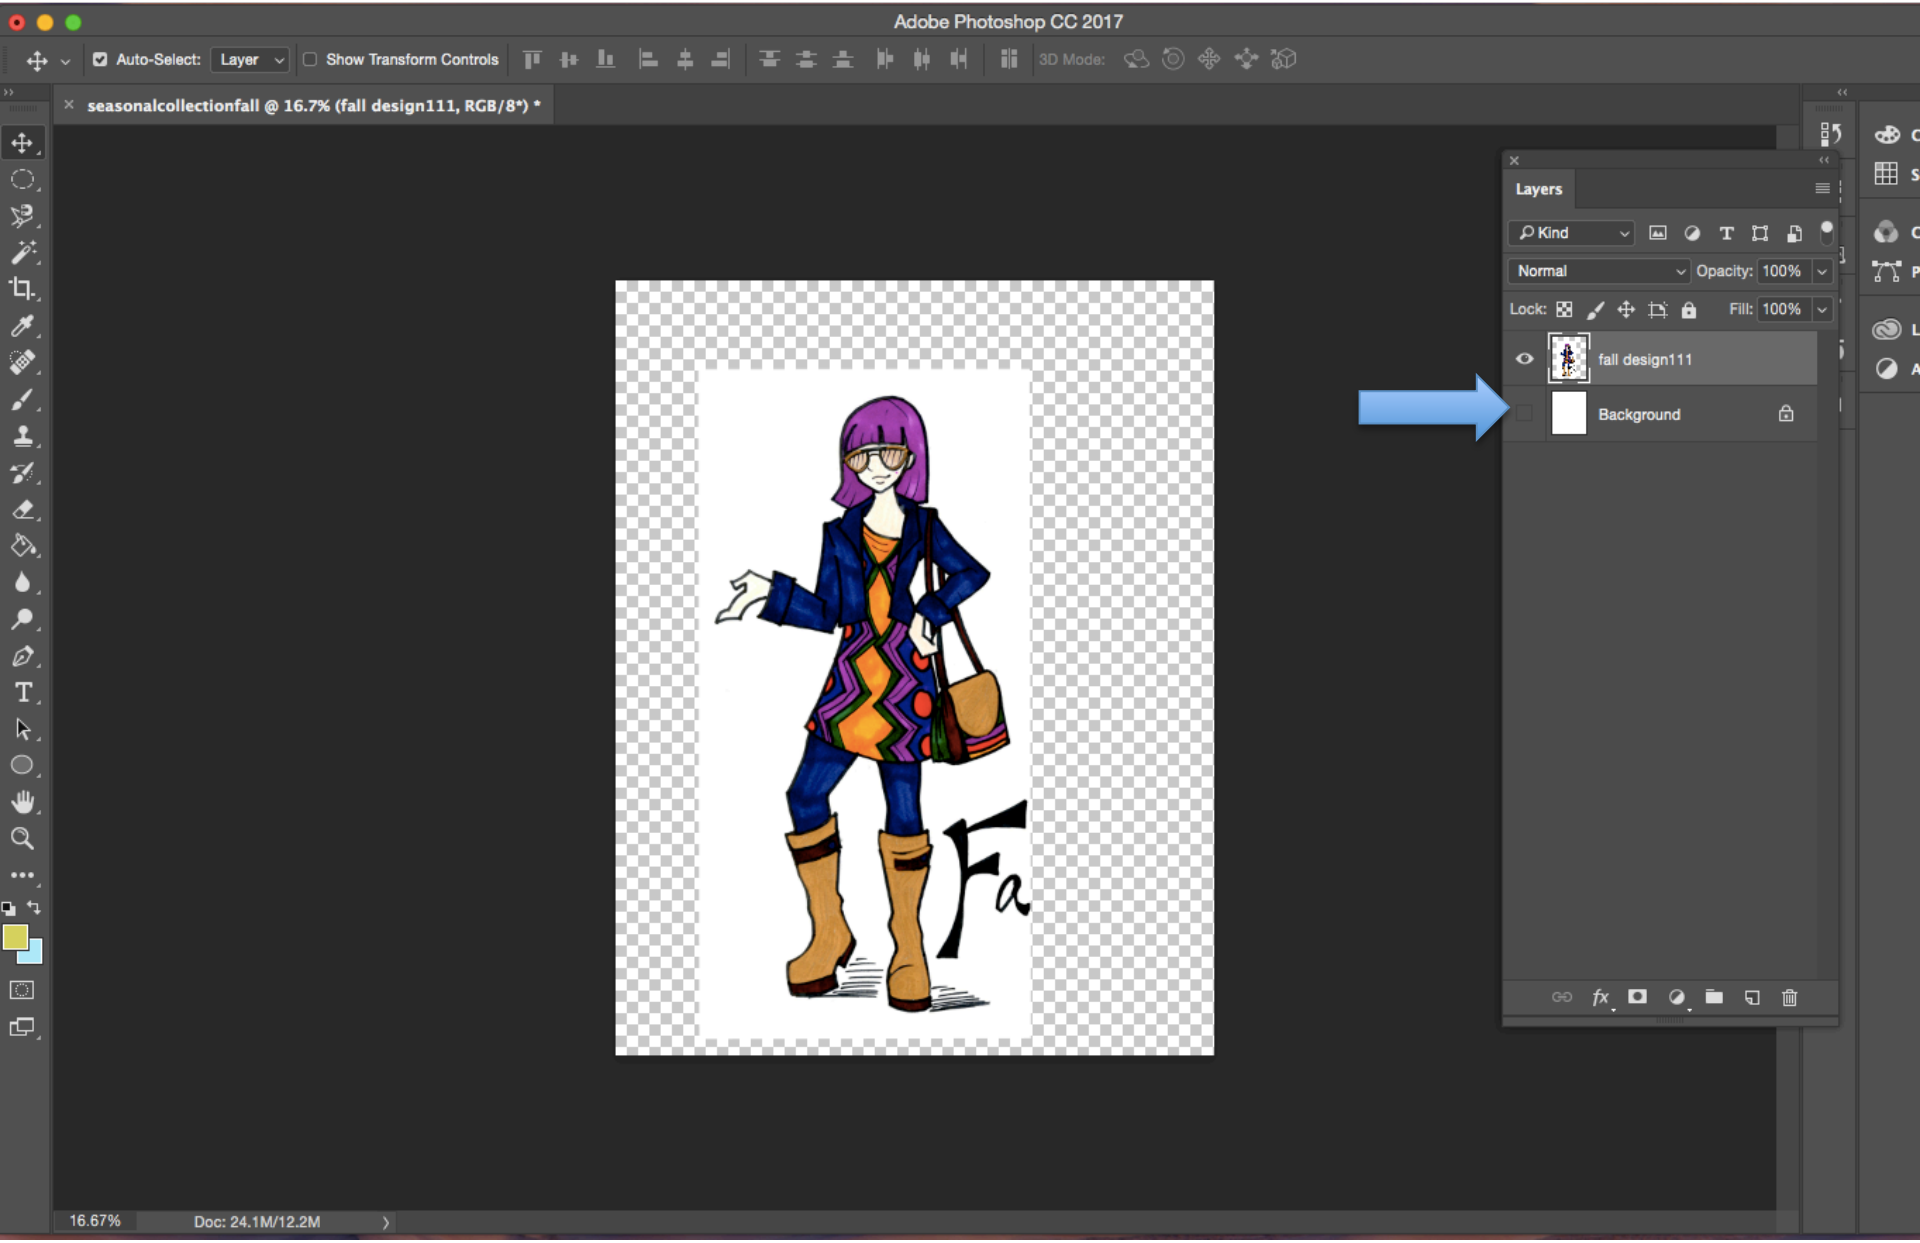
Use this tutorial to create your presentation boards for your designs

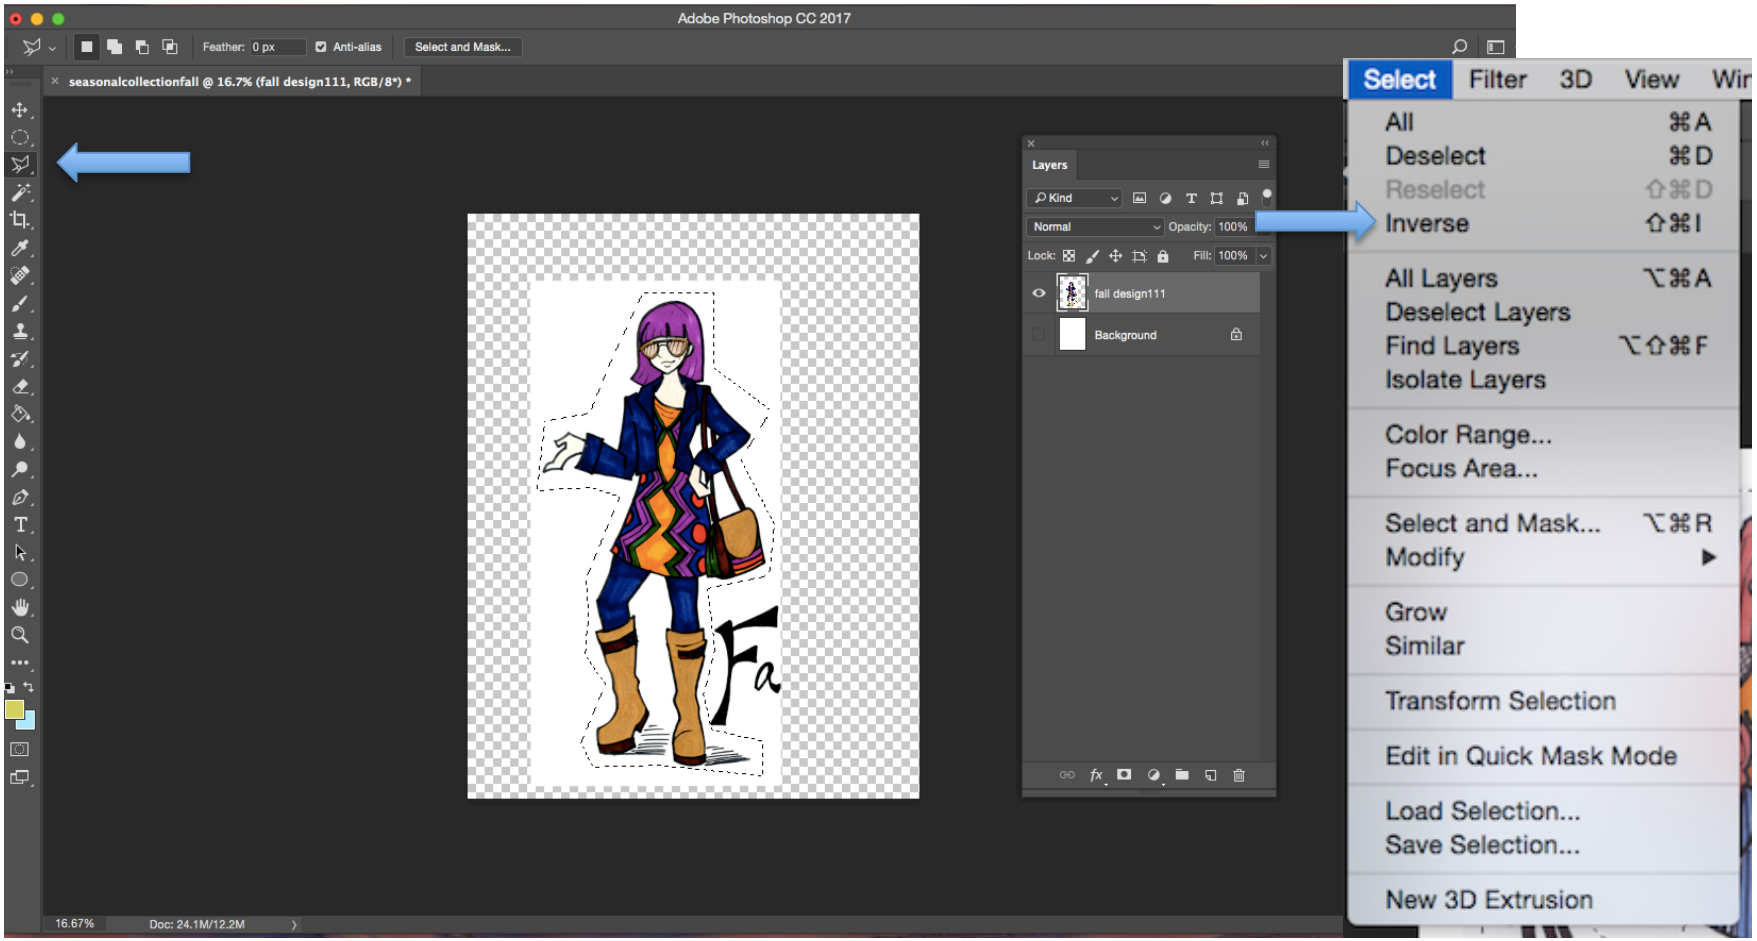


After you have drawn your design on your croquis and it has been scanned, you will be required to place it in a presentation board

Open PHOTOSHOP and make an 8.5x11” file, 300 resolution



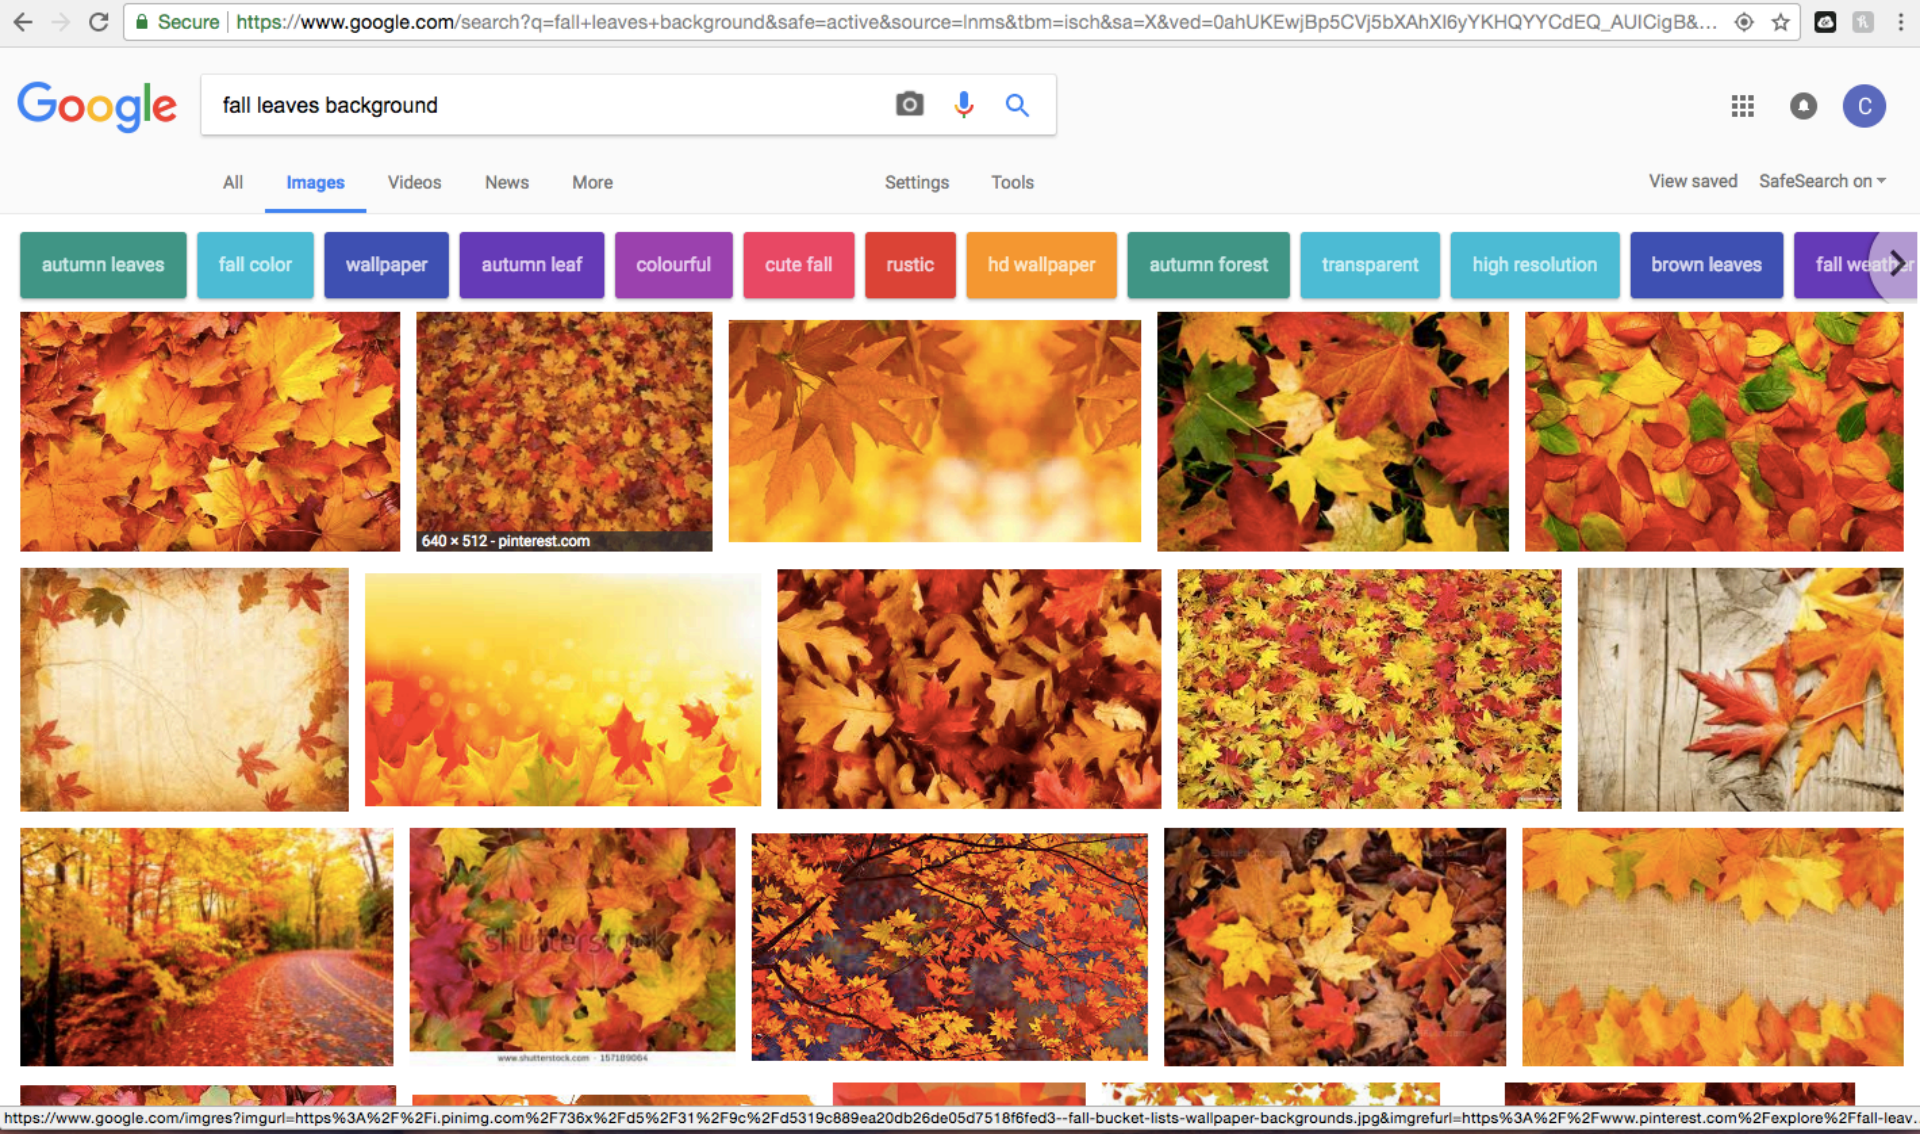
Click and drag your croquis from the :Share folder, into the new PHOTOSHOP file.
Turn the eyeball off on the background layer.



Using the polygon lasso tool. (Click and hold on the lasso tool and a box will appear with the polygon lasso tool) Click and draw a rough shape around your croquis, as if you cut it out with scissors.

Then click Select > Inverse

Press backspace to erase the background of your croquis cut out.



Now start considering backgrounds for your croquis. It can be a photo, or just a color.

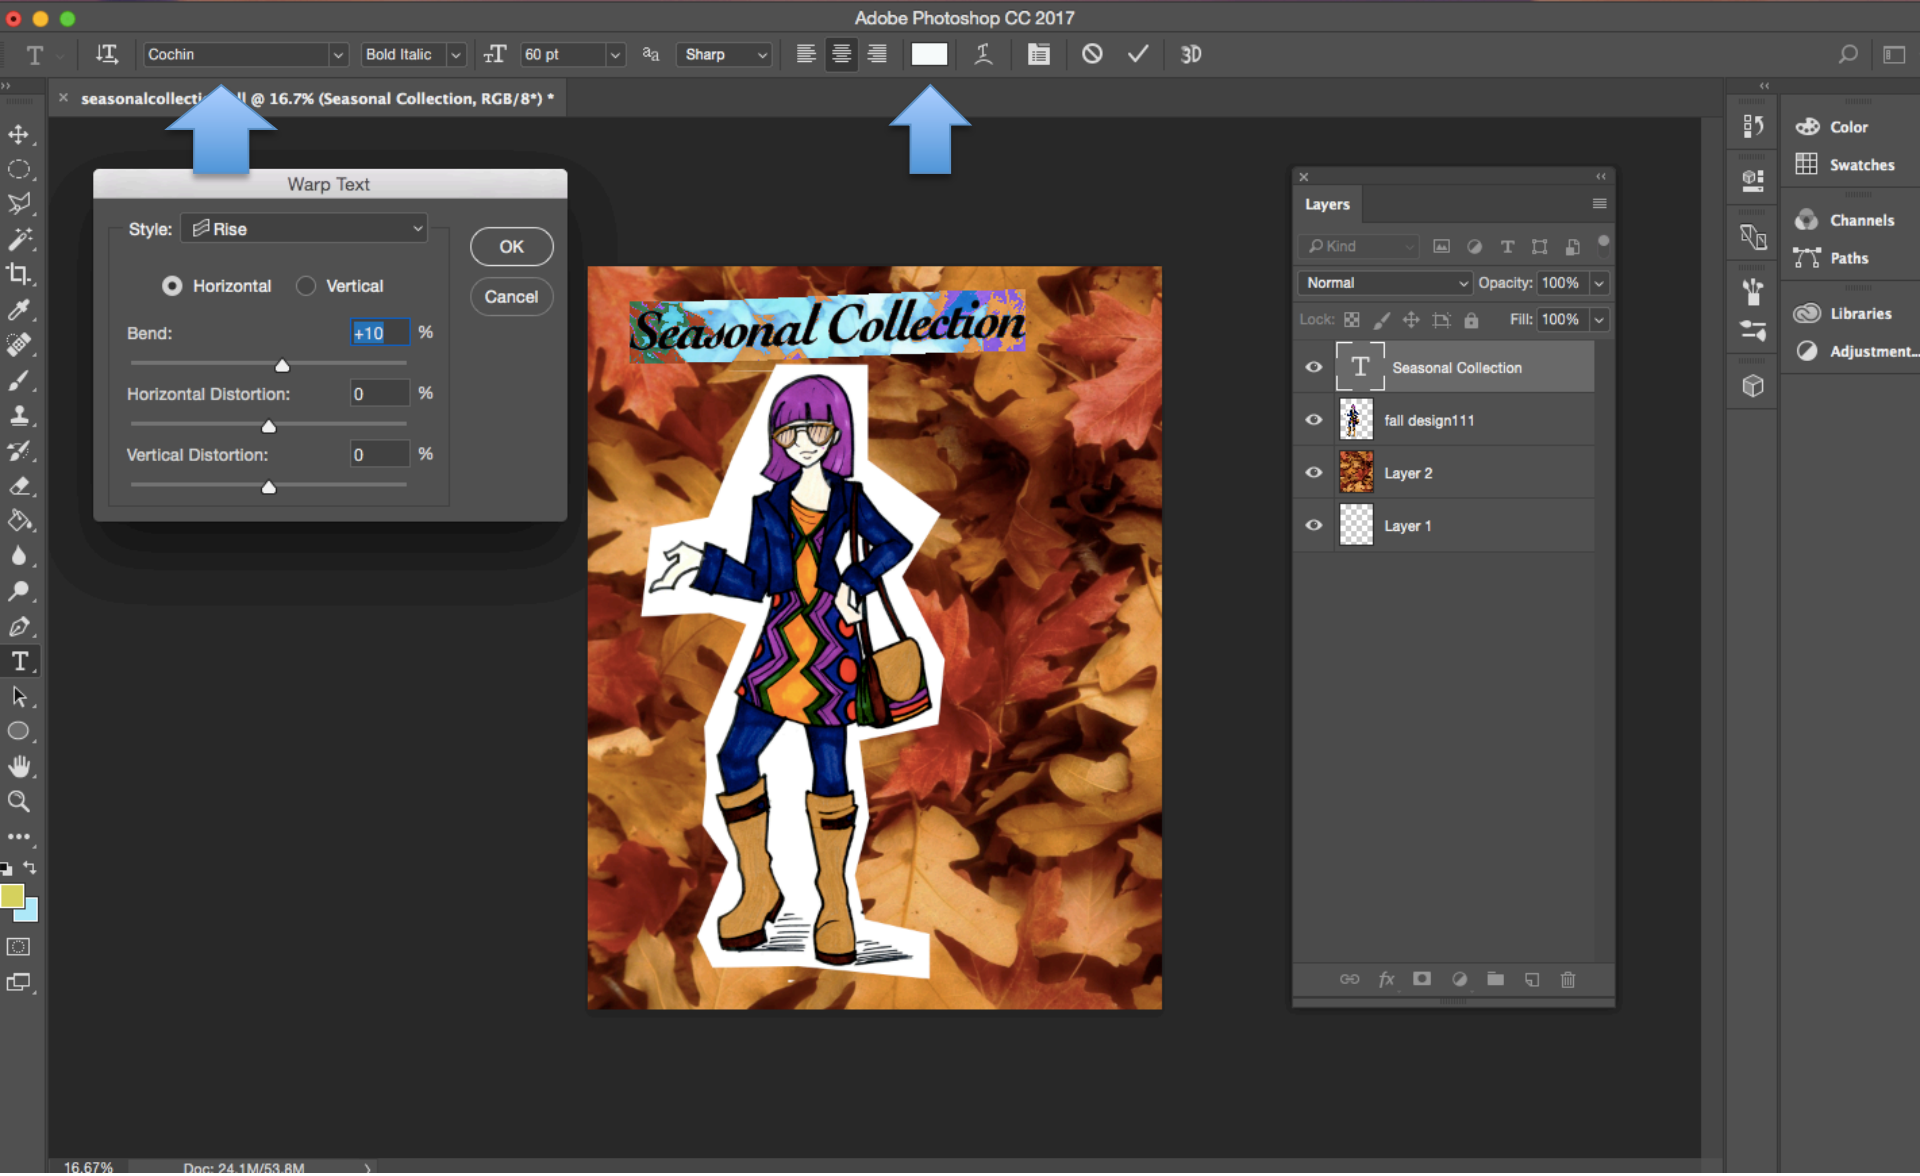
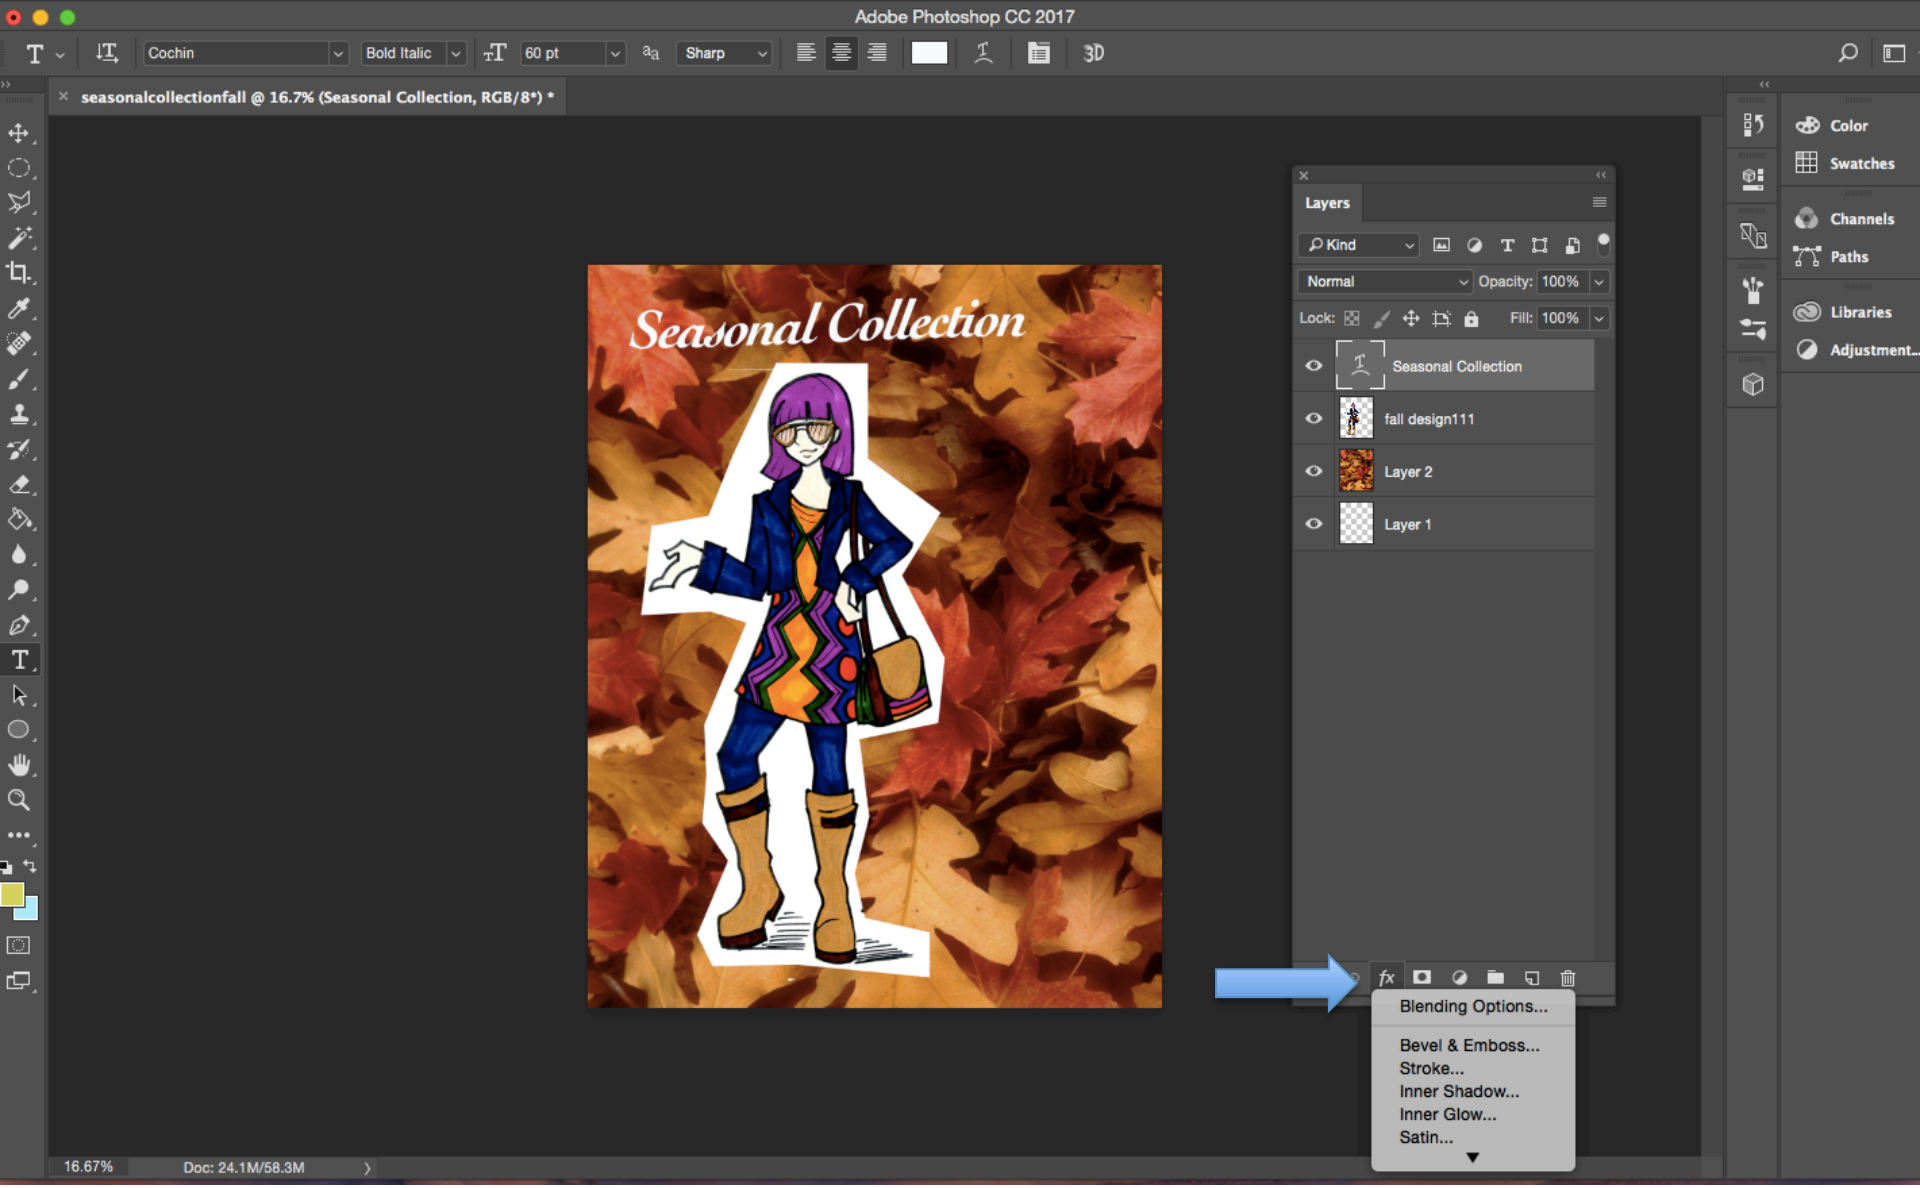
Move that photo layer underneath your croquis

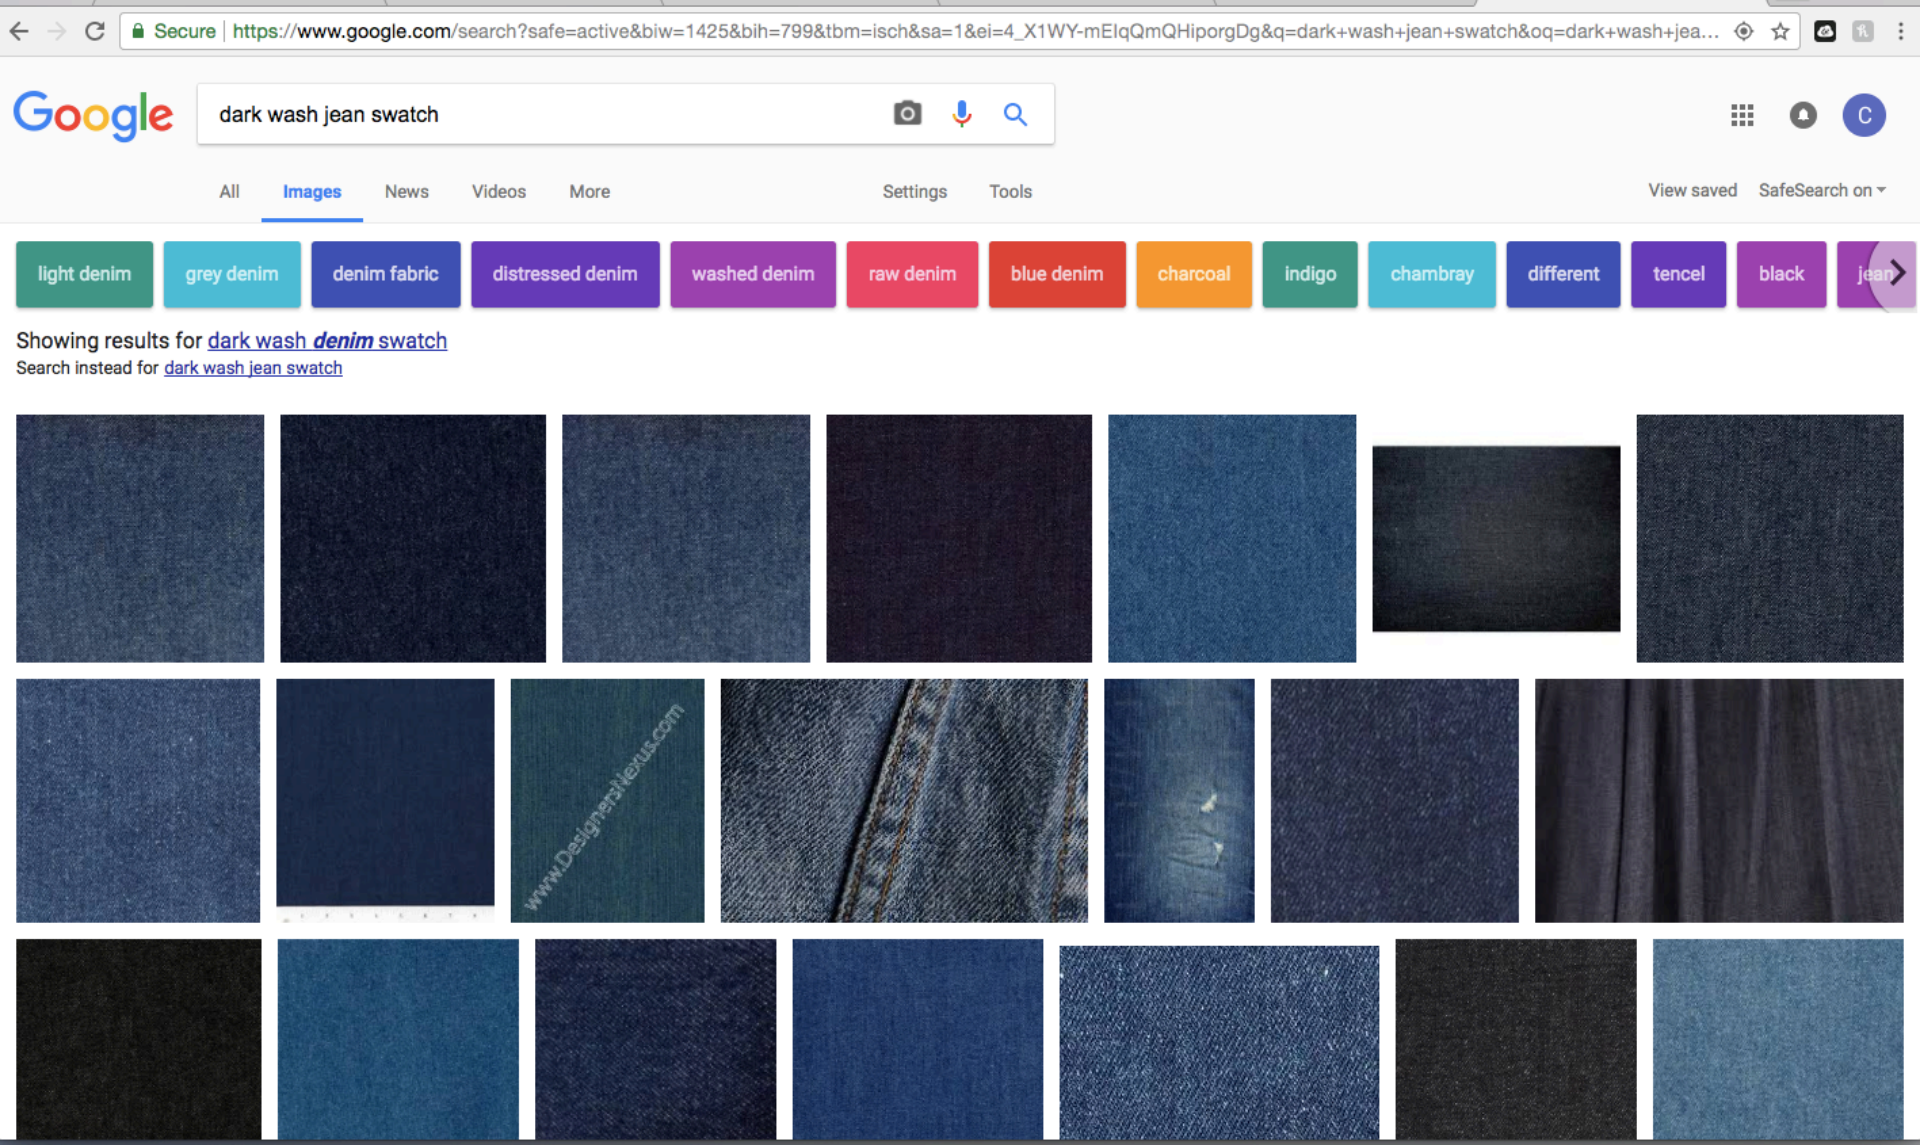


Start adding your text! You'll need to title it with the project name. You will also need a description of your design. And a signature.

Use the T tool. You can change many things about the text with the options in the top bar. (font, color, size, etc)



You can also add extra things to your text by selecting the text layer, and clicking the fx button. It gives you many options, play around with them.



You can also add “swatches” to your presentation board, of the fabrics you are using in your design. Copy and paste them into it.
