Then go back to photoshop and click on edit then paste

Then click on the eyeball on the background layer.

Then use the magic wand to erase the white background from your drawing.

(press backspace to erase, then CTRL > D to deselect)

Go online and find a background. Entirely up to you and the project what you choose!

Copy and paste it into the photoshop file.

Resize the background and move that later underneath your drawing.

Last we are going to add a shadow behind your drawing.

Click on your drawing layer, then click on the fx button at the bottom of the layer panel.

Click on drop shadow

In this panel, increase the opacity until you are happy, and play with the distance, spread and size of the shadow.

Don't worry about all the dots.
